

Competitor Feature Comparison

CONFIDENTIAL Faresay Ltd · 26 June 2026

Internal · v1.0 · June 2026. Candid positioning vs the practice-management tools a UK private-practice therapist actually considers. Facts web-researched + fact-checked June 2026 — competitor pricing/features change, so re-verify before quoting externally.

Honest headline: Faresay is the newest and simplest option, free to start, UK-therapist-first, with the essentials all included and the therapist owning everything. The incumbents are more mature and feature-rich (group practice, insurance/claims, ePrescribe, deep clinical tooling, native apps) and mostly paid-only. We win on calm + fairness + free entry, not breadth.

The field

	Home market	Starting price (UK)	Model
Faresay	UK-first (BACP/UKCP/NCPS)	Free (Starter) · £39 · £79 /mo	Subscription + small card commission (2.5 / 1 / 0%)
SimplePractice	US (dominant)	$49–$99/mo (USD only)	Flat subscription; no cut
WriteUpp	UK	~£20+/user/mo	Flat subscription; no cut
Halaxy	AU/global (+UK/EU)	Free core (SMS/telehealth paid)	Freemium; no cut
Power Diary / Zanda	Global (+UK)	£15/mo+	Flat subscription; no cut
Cliniko	Global (+UK)	£59/mo+	Flat subscription; no cut
Carepatron	US/global	Free / $31–$39/user (USD)	Freemium; no cut

Note: no competitor takes a percentage of session fees / acts as a revenue-share marketplace. So "no marketplace cut" is not a differentiator — they all charge subscriptions. Faresay is the outlier that adds a small card-payment commission (its trade for a free entry tier).

Feature matrix

(✓ yes/included · ~ partial/add-on/paid · × no)

Feature	Faresay	SimplePractice	WriteUpp	Halaxy	Zanda	Cliniko	Car
Built specifically for UK therapists	✓	×	✓	~	~	~
Free plan	✓	×	×	✓	×	×
UK / EU data residency	✓	×	✓ (EU)	✓ (EU)	✓ (UK)	✓ (UK)
UK-GDPR / ICO posture, processor DPA	✓	×	✓	✓	✓	✓
GBP card payments + payouts	✓	×	✓	✓	✓	✓	~
Built-in secure video	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓ (Zoom)	✓
SMS reminders included	✓	✓ (US #)	~ (credits)	~ (credits)	~ (credits)	~ (credits)	~
Email reminders	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Client self-booking page	✓	✓	~	✓	✓	✓
Intake / consent forms	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Outcome measures (PHQ-9/GAD-7)	✓	✓ (higher tier)	~	~	~	~

Feature	Faresay	SimplePractice	WriteUpp	Halaxy	Zanda	Cliniko	Car
You own clients + records, export & leave	✓	✓ (manual)	✓	~ (friction)	✓	✓
Native mobile app	~ (web/PWA)	✓	~	✓	✓	✓
Insurance / claims billing	×	✓ (US)	~	✓	~	~
Group-practice / multi-clinician depth	~ (coming)	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Opinionated simplicity / fast setup	✓	×	~	~	~	~

Per-competitor read

SimplePractice — the US incumbent (100k+ providers), deepest feature set:

insurance/claims, ePrescribe, measurement-based care, strong native apps, free directory.

But fundamentally US: USD-only, US data residency, HIPAA-not-GDPR, US-bank payouts — UK private practice fights the defaults the whole way. Our angle: we're the UK-native answer; they aren't built for here.

WriteUpp — genuine UK peer: UK support, GBP, EU data residency, processor stance, no cut. Mature, allied-health-broad. SMS is credit-based; UI is more "clinical software" than calm. Our angle: free to start, simpler, therapist-warm, outcome measures + self-booking native.

Halaxy — free core is compelling, global, EU residency for EU users. But it runs a client-facing marketplace/directory and monetises via paid SMS/telehealth credits + payment fees; export has friction. Our angle: free too, but UK-focused, calmer, and we don't muddle software with a marketplace.

Power Diary / Zanda — strong UK posture (UK data, GBP), cheap entry (£15), no cut, mature. Allied-health generalist, busier UI. Our angle: therapist-specific (not generalist), free entry, simpler, mental-health tooling (outcome measures) built in.

Cliniko — excellent UK data residency + explicit "you are the controller" GDPR stance; loved for reliability. £59 entry is the priciest here and it's allied-health-generalist, not therapy-shaped. Our angle: free to start vs £59, therapy-specific, calmer.

Carepatron — free plan + lots of features + AI notes, but US/HIPAA-centric, USD pricing, weaker UK-specific residency. Our angle: UK-native + GBP + UK GDPR.

Where Faresay genuinely wins (lead with these)

1. Free to start. Starter £0 — only Halaxy/Carepatron also free, and they're not UK-therapist-first. WriteUpp/Cliniko/Zanda/SimplePractice are paid-only.
2. Built for UK therapists, calmly. Therapy-shaped, not allied-health-generalist; opinionated simplicity; phone-first; set up in ~15 min.
3. Everything a solo UK therapist needs, included — secure video, GBP payments + payouts, email and SMS reminders, intake/consent, outcome measures, self-booking — without per-feature add-ons or SMS credit packs.
4. You own it all. Therapist = data controller; export and leave anytime. Processor DPA, UK/EU residency, ICO.
5. Fair + transparent. Free entry, pay-as-you-earn commission that drops to 0% — no marketplace cut on your practice.

Where we're honestly behind (don't hide; address in roadmap)

- Maturity/breadth: incumbents have years of features — insurance/claims, ePrescribe, deep reporting, group-practice tooling.
 - Native app: we're a PWA today (installs to home screen); native app is on the roadmap (Capacitor).
 - Card commission: we add 0–2.5% on card payments; pure-subscription rivals don't. Framed honestly, it's the price of the free entry tier — and it's 0% on Clinic.
 - Track record: we're new. Trust is earned; the incumbents have it.
-

Sources: competitor websites + reputable reviews, web-researched and fact-checked June 2026. Figures change — re-verify before any external/published use. Public-facing comparisons must be fair, factual and verifiable (UK comparative-advertising rules).

Faresay

faresay.com · enquiries@faresay.com · legal@faresay.com

Confidential. This document and its contents are the property of Faresay and are intended solely for the named recipient.